SUPREME COURT DEFIED

The Beef Trust defies the Supreme Court of the United States every day of its existence.

It defies and violates the permanent injunction granted against it by the highest court of the country January 30, 1905.

And such is its power for harm, that no official can be found who will stand up for what the United States Supreme Court decreed on behalf of the people.

The Beef Trust continues its existence as a combination in restraint of trade and commerce.

It continues to fix and to maintain throughout the country a uniform and exorbitant price for meat in defiance of the mandate of the highest court in the land.

The temporary injunction issued by Judge Peter S. Grosscup May 20, 1902, against the Beef Trust was made permanent by the United States Supreme Court in a decision announced January 30, 1905. The decision establishes these points:

Traffic in live stock transported from State to State is interstate commerce and persons engaged in buying and selling such live stock are engaged in interstate commerce.

The combination between dealers to suppress all competition in the purchase of live stock is an unlawful restraint of trade.

The combination between dealers to fix and maintain a uniform price in the sale of meat throughout the country is an unlawful restraint of trade.

The combination of dealers to obtain preferential railroad rates, is an unlawful restraint of trade.

All combinations suppressing competition between independent dealers fall under the prohibition of the Sherman Anti-Trust Act.

A great portion of the "lumpy jaw" beef slaughtered in the United States and passed as "sound" by the inspectors is sold and consumed in Chicago, according to a recent article in the Chicago Tribune. St. Louis prohibits both the slaughter and sale of "lumpy jaw" cattle in that city, and Kansas City, while it permits the slaughtering of such cattle, prohibits the sale of the beef.

That Chicago has become the "dumping ground" for practically all the "lumpy jaw" beef in the country was revealed by food inspectors.

At one plant are slaughtered every Friday from 100 to 200 head of "lumpy jaw" cattle. Of these only a small fraction is condemned as unfit for consumption. The rest, with the diseased parts cut out, is sold for prime beef, and brings the retailer as good prices as the best beef.

This is possible by reason of the fact that the consumer has no way of telling whether the beef he buys is part of a "lumpy jaw" steer or not. If the inspectors pass an infected animal, after the post-mortem inspection, the beef is placed in the cooler and sold just as any other beef.

Out of a total day's slaughter of 120 head of "lumpy jaw" and otherwise infected animals only twelve carcasses were condemned after post-mortem inspection. This means that at an average weight of 1,200 pounds each there will be sold in Chicago during the next few days at least 129,000 pounds of "lumpy jaw" beef. How much of the same kind of meat is shipped into Chicago from Kansas City and other places where its sale is prohibited would be difficult to estimate, but the quantity is undoubtedly large.

In most of the Eastern cities ordinances are in force prohibiting the sale of meat from animals with actinomycosis, the scientific name for "lumpy jaw." Thus Chicago remains as the only large market where that class of cattle may be slaughtered and sold with profit.

The average weekly receipts of cattle at the stock yards are 70,000 head, and among these always are found from 100 to 200 animals infected in one way or another.

The meat inspection law which was framed up to suit the Beef Trust, does not provide for microscopic examinations and no microscopic examination is made of pork for the purpose of discovering evidences of trichina.

No wonder that foreign governments with the good health of their subjects in mind are somewhat suspicious of Beef Trust pork.

The one benefit that Chicago and Illinois receives by the location of the slaughtering and packing houses here, is an unlimited supply of tuberculosis. Government inspection only applies to meat shipped to other States or foreign countries. No wonder Dr. Billings estimates the number of tuberculosis people in Illinois at 1,000,000.

People are commencing to see why so many Beef Trust men are put on the county grand jury.

Chicago is the dumping ground for lumpy jaw cattle. The Beef Trust thrives.

MURDER VICTIM IS IDENTIFIED.

Man Killed on Farm Near Koltze
Was Carl Nicksted, a Butcher.

The body of the man who was found murdered on the farm of William Koltze in Koltze was identified as that of Carl Nicksted, 40 years old, 239 Sangamon street, Chicago, a butcher. The identification was made at the county morgue at Danbury by the dead man's wife, Marion Nicksted, 37 years old. It was brought about by a pawn ticket which was found in a pocket of the victim's vest and which was apparently overlooked in the first search of the clothing. Mrs. Nicksted became hysterical and fainted after making the identification. Nicksted was first believed to have been beaten to death with a sandbag found near the body, but it was later discovered that he had been shot in the head, the bullet penetrating the brain. No revolver was found.

FARMERS TO FIGHT MILK CUT.

Elgin District Dairymen Plan to Organize for Protection.

Reduction of wholesale winter milk prices will be met with the organization of a protective combine of Elgin district dairymen, according to statements of Elgin farmers. Initial steps in the formation of the proposed farmers' combine will be taken within a week. Dundee dairymen, aroused at the general decrease in winter prices, announced by all big milk buyers, met to reorganize a mutual aid and maintain a milk factory. Whole sale milk prices for the ensuing six months in the Elgin dairy district announced the other day show an average decrease of 10 cents the hundred pounds over the winter scale of 1907. Retail market conditions are declared the principal cause of the decrease. The price of butter is declared to have affected the price of milk to a certain extent.

MASKED MEN ROB AGED RECLUSE.

Farmer's Own Gun Is Used to Com-pet Him to Yield $2,000.

William Wright, an aged farmer, who lives alone in a cabin seven miles west of Alto Pass, at the foot of Pine Hills, in a wild region, was robbed of $2,000 at 2 o'clock the other afternoon by two men, who entered his home, secured his rifle and with it compelled him to turn over his money hidden there. The men's faces and hands were blacked and they wore other- wise disguised. It is generally believed that the robbers are men who live in that section, who were familiar with the aged recluse's circumstances and habits. A sheriff's posse was organized to run them down.

SCORES SEE AUTO KILL WOMAN.

Car Owned by City Treasurer of Joliet in Fatal Accident.

Struck down by the big touring car owned by City Treasurer Martin B. Schuster, a member of the real estate firm of Schuster Brothers, in Joliet, Mrs. John Lye was instantly killed before hundreds of helpless and horror-stricken witnesses. The blame for the accident is much in doubt. But the opinion of witnesses is that the wet pavements and the confusing actions of the woman are both responsible, although some blame the owner of the automobile, who, they claim, was either running too fast or did not use good judgment.

DROUGHT IS RUINING CORN.

Wheat in Southern Illinois Will Yield Only Eight Bushels to Acre.

Farmers generally throughout southern Illinois are complaining of the continued drought, and say that unless some relief is afforded in the way of rain the corn crop will prove almost as much a failure as the wheat. Six weeks ago the indications for a bumper corn crop were most favorable, but the scarcity of moisture has since wrought considerable damage. The wheat crop in Perry county will average about eight bushels to the acre, as compared with eighteen to twenty bushels per acre in 1907.

BLACK HAND WORKER GUILTY.

Italian Is Arrested in Act of Taking Money from Apprentice Painter.

Arrested of sending a Black Hand letter to Charles Caccian, a prosperous Italian merchant of Johnson City, Antonio Romano, also an Italian, was found guilty after a trial in the United States Court in Vermilion county. Caccian was threatened with death if he failed to leave $2,000 in a designated spot. He placed the money in a barrel and then notified the authorities. A deputy sheriff caught Romano removing the cover from the receptacle.

Minister Changes Creed.

The Rev. P. H. Aldrich, one of the leading divines of the United Brethren church in central Illinois, and for several years in charge of one of the leading churches of Macon county, has decided to join the Baptist denomination and will retire from the United Brethren church at the conference in Quincy. He will then take charge of the Baptist church at Waverly.

Scout to Be Hanged on Oct. 23.

Joe James, the negro convicted of murdering Clergy A. Ballard, and whose punishment was fixed at death by the jury, was sentenced by Judge Creighton in Springfield to hang on Oct. 23, the execution to take place between the hours of 10 a. m. and 2 p. m. in the Sangamon county jail.

Pushing War on Blind Pige.

Ninety witnesses have been subpoenaed by the Kane county State's attorney to testify against blind pigs, which have appeared numerous since towns in the county went dry.

Swallowing the contents of a bottle containing arsenic, thinking it to be medicine, Mrs. J. T. Webster, wife of a prominent resident of Atlanta, was fatally poisoned.

A license to incorporate has been issued by the Secretary of State to the Galesburg, Alledo and Northwestern Railway Company, capital stock $10,000. The road is to be constructed from Galesburg to Rock Island and Muscatine, Iowa.

"Joe" James, the negro indicted for the murder of Clergy A. Ballard, and whose life was sought by the mob during the recent riots in Springfield, but who was spirited away in an automobile, pleaded not guilty when arraigned before Judge Creighton.

Mr. and Mrs. David E. Butterfield, living northeast of Ottawa, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their marriage the other day. Ninety guests were present. Mr. Butterfield was a member of a party of forty who went from Ottawa by wagon to the California gold fields in 1849.

When Roy Young, 16 years old, entered a plea of guilty in the Circuit Court of Sangamon county to charges of rioting and burglary and larceny, his action marked the first conviction for participation in the lynching riots of last month in Springfield. Being under age, Young was sentenced to the State reformatory at Pontiac under the indeterminate sentence act.

While Fred Benth, who lives one mile north of Macouh, was swinging an axe back of his home his 16-month-old child, Freddie, came running up to him. Unobserved, the child toddled in front of his father just as the keen-bladed tool descended. It cut clean into the little one's head, penetrating the skull. The doctor says the baby has a fighting chance for recovery.

Walter Prager of Chicago was shot by masked men on a bridge across the Illinois in Peoria. Two shots were fired by the robbers. The second struck the man in the left side and he fell to the ground. The men rushed upon him and took $42 in bank notes from his pocket. Bridge tenders heard the shots and ran across the bridge, where they found Prager lying on the ground. They notified the police and Prager was taken to St. Francis' hospital, where he is in a critical condition.

After having terrorized the citizens of Edgemont for two days and nights, Chub Otin, a miner, was shot and killed by Charles Berger, owner of an ice cream parlor. Otin began drinking heavily Saturday night and stalked the streets making threats of trouble. Entering Berger's ice cream parlor he attempted to slash Berger with a razor and was shot dead. Berger immediately surrendered to the police and was taken into custody. Otin came from Mystic, Iowa, two years ago. It is said he had a wife and two children in Iowa.

Due to an attack of meningitis, Elizabeth, the 5-year-old child of George De Groot, of La Salle county, is in a trance-like sleep and cannot be awakened. The child has lain for more than thirty days in this condition and appears to be in a healthy condition, save for the abnormal sleep.

William Hewitt, whose home is said to be at Indianapolis, was found dead in a field north of the electric light plant in Harrisburg by some trainmen. No marks were found on his person and the verdict of the coroner's jury was that he died of heart disease, caused by an over-indulgence in liquor.
